BYLAWS

I. Name

The name of this Delaware exempt corporation is “Working-Class Studies Association” (hereinafter “WCSA,” the “Association,” or the “Corporation”).

II. Purpose

The purpose of the Association is to promote and develop multiple forms of scholarship, teaching, and activism related to working-class life and cultures.

III. Membership

Membership is open to the general public.

There shall be three categories of individual membership: (i) people who are employed full time; (ii) students or part-time employed, unemployed, and retired persons; and (iii) honorary and lifetime members. Organizations, such as schools, departments, or unions, may also join as institutional members, though they are ineligible to vote in Association elections. The dues structure within each category shall be determined by the Executive Committee. Privileges and responsibilities of each membership category shall be established by the Executive Committee.

In addition to general membership in the Association, members can pay an additional dues amount to participate in the Working-Class Academics Section. Other sections may be proposed in the future.

All individuals serving in leadership positions including, but not limited to, Officers, Executive Committee members, or members of any committee or editorial board, shall be required to be a member of the Association. In order to maintain membership status, an individual or group member shall pay annual dues by the member’s renewal date. Dues for each membership category shall be established by the Executive Committee. Privileges and responsibilities of each membership category shall be established by the Executive Committee.

A. Life members: Persons eligible for regular membership may become life members by making a single payment, thereafter becoming exempt from the annual payment of dues.
B. Honorary members: Distinguished persons may be elected honorary members. Honorary members shall be nominated by the Executive Committee and elected by the membership of the association through an online voting system.

Rights of Members: Membership grants the right to vote for officers in elections during the term of membership and as specified in the Bylaws. Membership grants members the opportunity to be on the presentation schedule of Association conferences.

The Executive Committee shall consist of the President, the President-Elect, the Immediate Past-President, the Secretary, the Treasurer, the current Chair of the Working-Class Academics Section, and four at-large members. The Executive Committee shall act either on its own initiative or on the recommendations of a properly-convened meeting of the membership as a whole.

B. The Executive Committee shall meet as often as needed to transact the business of the Association, but no less than twice during any given year. Five members of the Executive Committee shall constitute a quorum at meetings, and a majority vote of the members present and voting shall control its decisions. Special meetings of the Executive Committee may be called by the President or by a majority of the members of the Executive Committee.

B. Recall: Officers, including at-large members of the Executive Committee, may be recalled for cause, such cause to include failure to perform duties, malfeasance, or the like. The officer or at-large Executive Committee member recalled will be entitled to procedural due process. The officer or at-large Executive Committee member must be notified by written letter of cause and intent to recall at least thirty days before recall petition is initiated. A petition to recall must be signed within sixty days of its initiation by at least the number of members who voted for the officer or at-large Executive Committee member. VII. Responsibilities of the Executive Committee

A. The Executive Committee shall meet as often as needed to transact the association's business.

B. The responsibilities of the Executive Committee shall be as follows:

1. To provide for its own organization and operations and to manage the business and affairs of the association as provided by the laws of the state in which the organization is incorporated for directors of a corporation.

2. To conduct a review of the constitutional, legal, and fiduciary issues posed by the language of each resolution or motion approved by duly-constituted meetings of the membership. The Executive Committee will then, in a timely manner, either forward to the membership the resolution as approved, or with non-substantive modifications, or determine that it is unable to implement the resolution of the membership for one or more of the following reasons:

   a) The resolution or motion impedes the council's ability to carry out its fiduciary responsibilities.

   b) The resolution or motion contains erroneous, tortious, or possibly libelous statements.

   c) The resolution, by itself or taken with other resolutions, poses a threat to the association's continuing operation as a tax-exempt organization. If the Executive Committee is unable to approve and implement a resolution of the membership, it will, at the earliest possible opportunity, present to the membership the reasons for its action. The membership may then consider reformulating the resolution or motion, or other appropriate action.
3. To act on the recommendations of meetings of the membership, and to inform it of actions taken. Such actions may include implementation, modification, referral to an appropriate committee of the association, or return to the agenda of a legally-constituted membership meeting. The Executive Committee shall not reverse decisions of the membership on purely political bases.

4. To inform the membership of actions taken to implement resolutions or motions passed and ratified.

5. To initiate and supervise the services of the association.

6. To appoint an executive director and/or other staff members, and to supervise the administrative structure of the association’s office.

7. To approve the budget of the association and to supervise its expenditure.

8. To establish and (except for Standing Committees) discharge committees and commissions of the association, either on the recommendation of the membership or on its own initiative, and to designate their chairs. In making appointments to committees, the Executive Committee shall ensure fair representation of all relevant constituencies within the domain of the association. The Executive Committee shall provide for the appointment of at least one member of the association to each committee of the association whose charge emerges from actions taken at a duly-constituted membership meeting.

9. To act on proposals affecting the dues structure approved by the membership.

10. To supervise publications and other media of the association.

11. To authorize applications for and administration of grants and contracts.
